Trevor-Roberts has been accepted to join the Global Outplacement Alliance (GOA) in a first for an Australian firm. "As the nature of work continues to rapidly change through social and technological trends, our clients are asking for support outside of Australia" says Dr Edwin Trevor-Roberts, CEO of Trevor-Roberts. "We have searched for a number of years for an international alliance that aligns to our values and delivers genuine customer-centered support, so we are delighted to be part of the GOA."

The GOA is a cohesive network of international career service specialists providing best in industry career management, outplacement, and talent management services. A high standard of delivery underpins the belief that individuals need customised outplacement solutions tailored to their specific circumstances in order to succeed. GOA has member firms throughout the US, Canada and selected countries across the world.

"Boundaryless careers will continue to rise over the next decade which means that organisations will increasingly draw on the international talent pool while individuals have greater opportunities across the globe. GOA provides an edge to assisting clients and individuals" says Dr Trevor-Roberts.
